Central Penn College is "...proud to be the first college in central Pennsylvania to offer free housing to all incoming new students," said Dr. Linda Fedrizzi-Williams, president. "With this initiative, all incoming freshmen and transfer students—who choose to live on campus—will be eligible to receive free housing for the entire 2019–2020 academic year." Over the past year, the college—under the direction of President Fedrizzi-Williams—has been working to address the global college affordability issue that many students and families face. In addition to offering free housing, the college has made the decision to freeze tuition rates for the 2019–2020 academic year.

Harrisburg auction company Cordier Auctions participated in the Salvation Army Harrisburg's 2018 Battle of the Bells competition, raising a total of $957 for the organization. Cordier's fundraising efforts included bell ringing by their staff and a desktop kettle hosted at the front counter of their 12,000 SF auction facility. It was Cordier's first year participating in the Battle of the Bells, which pits area organizations against one another in a friendly contest. Cordier's Director of Administration, Erika Kelly, said that the company "was thrilled to get involved in the contest by forming a Battle of the Bells team and showing our continued support of TSA Harrisburg. Their efforts in the community are amazing."
