Additional strategies are being developed for 2021 to maintain fee-based revenue at levels above historical trends and to continue to optimize the balance sheet mix during an anticipated prolonged period of low interest rates. Partnership for Career Development (PCD) strives to serve as experts that understand both the business and educational landscapes of our region. As 2020 has created a whole lot of uncharted territory for many of us, we are revamping our very popular student Career Connections program to increase its flexibility and accessibility. In the past, we regularly hosted anywhere from 50-150 local high school students for half-day programs featuring organizations who offer career options in multiple career clusters. This year, for the safety of both our student and business participants, we plan to make it a virtual offering. It is our hope that this not only makes it easier for local businesses to participate and contribute, but also makes this important information available to our area's students and the educators that serve them. This flyer provides an overview of our Virtual Career Connections program and information on how to get involved. We want to work together to show students what incredible opportunities are available right here in south central Pennsylvania while providing a vehicle that enables organizations to market themselves and to recruit and retain prepared, conscientious employees.
