On October 10th, Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Capital Region (BBBSCR) hosted over 100 youth, from ten high schools, at their inaugural "Be You" DEI (Diversity, Equity & Inclusion) Youth Leadership Summit. BBBSCR and Presenting Sponsor, The GIANT Company, welcomed 100 young leaders along with music and fanfare as they walked into the Penn Harris ballroom. All attending students are current BBBSCR program participants. During breakout sessions, attendees engaged in open conversations about how to drive positive change, embrace their potential and build a more equitable world. At lunchtime, the students networked with area professionals and visited a resource fair with job and volunteer opportunities. To end the day, each student created an empowering action plan to sustain and evolve with their mentors well beyond the summit. Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Capital Region thanks the Presenting Sponsor, The GIANT Company and the Platinum Sponsor, Unilever, for making this event possible.

In honor of Mid Penn Bank's $1.1 million fundraising commitment and in celebration of its partnership with Penn State Health to support men's health and increase cancer research, Penn State Cancer Institute has renamed its second-floor outpatient clinic. The Mid Penn Bank Outpatient Clinic will support patients undergoing cancer care. Leaders from both organizations gathered Tuesday evening to dedicate the space. "We are flattered to have this formal marker of our partnership with Penn State Health," said Rory Ritrievi, president and CEO of Mid Penn Bank. "While we are not doing this to promote Mid Penn Bank, we are happy to name this space and give its patients the confidence that there are companies behind them in their battle. We want our community to know we are here for them, that we stand with them, and support them during their healthcare journeys." Learn more by visiting raise.psu.edu.
