Barley Snyder is pleased to announce the formation of its Community Associations Practice Team, a dedicated focus area within the firm's Real Estate Practice Group that brings together attorneys and paralegals who advise developers, homeowners' associations (HOAs), condominium associations and other community associations throughout Pennsylvania. Led by Reilly Noetzel, chair of Barley Snyder's Real Estate Practice Group, the Community Associations Practice Team includes more than 25 legal professionals who assist clients at every stage of a community's lifecycle – from the initial structuring and development of planned communities and condominiums through turnover, governance, enforcement matters and ongoing association operations. Learn more: <https://www.barley.com/capability/community-associations/> Barley Snyder is also pleased to announce that attorneys Jordan S. Davis and Erika C. Firestone have joined the firm as members of its Real Estate Practice Group. Jordan Davis will be based in the firm's Lancaster office, and Erika Firestone will be based in the firm's Lebanon office. The addition of Davis and Firestone further bolsters Barley Snyder's Real Estate Practice Group, which represents developers, businesses, municipalities, non-profit organizations and individuals. The multidisciplinary group includes more than 50 attorneys and paralegals across the firm's footprint, offering clients seamless access to localized insight and firmwide resources.

This summer, The Foundation for Free Enterprise Education proudly celebrated 1,807 graduates of Pennsylvania Free Enterprise Week 2026! Throughout the week, students stepped into the roles of business leaders, working together to run their companies, manage finances, solve problems, and make real-world decisions. Just as importantly, they built new relationships, experienced college life, explored career possibilities, and discovered what they were capable of accomplishing. When students reflected on their PFEW experience, they identified meeting new people and networking, company meetings and teamwork, and experiencing college life among the most impactful parts of their week. They also reported significant growth in communication, collaboration, and confidence, skills that will serve them wherever their futures take them. PFEW is more than learning how a business works. It gives students the opportunity to work alongside their peers, challenge themselves, build confidence, and begin seeing their futures differently. They leave with new skills, new connections, and a better understanding of the opportunities waiting for them beyond high school. If you know a current sophomore or junior who could benefit from this experience, encourage them to learn more and apply for PFEW 2027. Learn more at www.pfew.org

River Wealth Advisors announces the following promotions, new hires, and anniversaries for their team members: River Wealth Advisors announces the promotion of Vanessa Sobotta to Chief Operating Officer. She brings over 15 years of experience in operations, finance, and administration, with a focus on strengthening internal processes and ensuring a consistent and exceptional client experience. In this role, she will drive the firm's operational and service strategies. River Wealth Advisors is pleased to welcome Brian Jankowski, CFA®, as Portfolio Manager. Brian joined the firm from one of the nation's leading public pension funds where he gained valuable institutional investing experience in both domestic and international equities. In his current position, Brian will work with advisors and firm clients to build diversified portfolios to help achieve their financial and investment goals. River Wealth Advisors announces the addition of Taylor Collier as Marketing Associate. She brings experience in family-owned businesses, retail field marketing, and agency operations. In this role, Taylor will be responsible for implementing all marketing, communications and branding strategies for the firm. River Wealth Advisors congratulates Mitch Fenimore, MBA, CEPA®, on his one-year anniversary as Senior Vice President and Lancaster Market Leader. Over the past year, Mitch has expanded the firm's presence and impact in the Lancaster community, as well as helped business owners prepare for their exit strategy and financial transition into retirement.

Join Sara's House of Hope us for an evening of remembrance as we honor the lives of our loved ones. Our annual 5K has been moved to May 2027, and this fall we're inviting our community to come together for a special Hope Still Shines Remembrance Walk on September 12, 2026. As the sun sets, we'll gather to walk together, glowing in the darkness in honor of those we love. Through music, shared stories, laughter, and community, we'll celebrate their lives—because they were so much more than their struggles. They were joy. They were love. They were light. Whether you're walking in memory of someone you've lost, standing in support of someone still fighting, or simply showing your compassion for those affected by mental health or substance use, you are welcome here. Hosted by Sara's House of Hope, this evening is about unity, healing, and hope. We walk to remember. We walk to break the stigma surrounding mental health and Substance Use Disorder. We walk because even in the darkest places... Hope Still Shines. To learn more and register, visit: <https://www.sarashouseofhope.org/hope-still-shines-eventinfo>

Saxton & Stump is pleased to announce that 45 of its attorneys have earned recognition in the 2027 edition of The Best Lawyers in America®, one of the legal profession's most respected peer-review publications. Among the 45 honorees, 39 attorneys were named to the Best Lawyers list, while six were recognized in the "Ones to Watch" category. Together, the firm's attorneys were honored across 35 distinct practice areas. Shareholder and Co-chair of our Healthcare Litigation group, Collin T. Keyser, earned the distinction of "Lawyer of the Year" for Medical Malpractice Law – Defendants, an award presented to only one attorney per practice area and region. "This recognition reflects the dedication our attorneys bring to their clients every day. Being named across so many practice areas speaks to the depth and breadth of talent we have throughout the firm," said CEO James W. Saxton, who was also named to the 2027 list. "Collin's recognition as 'Lawyer of the Year' is well-earned, a testament to the confidence his clients place in him time and again." For more than four decades, Best Lawyers has relied on confidential peer evaluations to identify attorneys who stand out for excellence within their respective practice areas.

strengthen their programs and expand the services they provide in their communities through The Foundation for Enhancing Communities' \(TFEC\) current grant opportunities. "Local nonprofits understand the needs of the people and neighborhoods they serve," said Stefani McAuliffe, vice president of community impact at TFEC. "This funding can help them advance their missions, reach more people and build on the work already making a difference across our region." Grant Cycle 3 offers five funding opportunities, with individual awards ranging from $1,000 to $12,000. Nonprofits may apply to more than one opportunity if they meet the eligibility requirements. Applications are open through Tuesday, Sept. 1. Nonprofits can review full guidelines and apply through TFEC's current grant opportunities portal. Several WellSpan hospitals have been recognized by U.S. News & World Report in its 2026-2027 Best Hospitals rankings, highlighting the health system's strength in key areas of care including cardiovascular services, rehabilitation, cancer treatment and orthopedic care. "These recognitions reflect the expertise, compassion and commitment of our teams who deliver exceptional care every day," said Dr. Kevin L. Lewis, executive vice president and chief physician executive at WellSpan Health. "Most importantly, they demonstrate that patients across our communities can access nationally recognized care close to home, whether they need advanced heart care, rehabilitation services, cancer treatment or orthopedic procedures." To learn more about nationally recognized care nearest you, visit www.WellSpan.org.

WellSpan Health and Johns Hopkins Medicine today announced the next phase of an oncology collaboration that will further strengthen access to advanced cancer care, clinical expertise and research opportunities for patients across Central Pennsylvania. The renewed collaboration builds upon a relationship that began in 2017 and expanded significantly in 2021. Over the past five years, the organizations have deepened their work together through physician consultations, multidisciplinary tumor conferences, access to subspecialty expertise, clinical research collaboration and the sharing of evidence-based treatment approaches. More than 1,300 WellSpan oncology patients, across 12 cancer sub-specialties, have directly benefited from the clinical collaboration. In addition, nearly 500 WellSpan patients have enrolled in research trials being led by Johns Hopkins Medicine. Earlier this summer, WellSpan also announced a strategic partnership with Cancer Care Associates of York (CCAY) to advance world-class cancer care for patients across York County. No matter where WellSpan oncology patients live across Central Pennsylvania, they have access to clinical experts at the world-renowned Johns Hopkins Kimmel Cancer Center, while receiving most of their care close to home from expert WellSpan physicians within the WellSpan Cancer Institute. To learn more about the collaboration with Johns Hopkins Medicine, visit www.WellSpan.org/Cancer.
